FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

The Red of the Bokhara.

Among the rugs of Turkey, the certain weaves are characterized by a peculiar color. Thus, wherever rugs are known, the rare old red of the Bokhara is famed. Woven by the Turkomans, a tribe which, settling in Central Asia, adopted the hair of the Angora goat as its staple fibre in weaving. The silky texture of the rugs is as wonderful as their coloring.

In our "Ruggery" are many antique specimens which, with their lustrous velvet-sheen and sprinkling of rich blue and ivory on the dull red grounding, are among the most beautiful bits of textile art that can be conceived.

Sizes run up to seven by ten feet. Among the smaller rugs, those of light weight and close fine surfaces make glorious hangings, giving rooms a charm and glamour unattainable with any other decoration.

A Cape and Jacket Climax.

This is the season for Jacket bargains. Manufacturers have one eye on unsold stock, and the other on an advancing season,a species of mercantile strabismus which has results like this:—

We have a number of very fine Jackets, which have come to us from a ominent manufacturer and importer. They include the handsomest garments e have ever offered at a cut price, and the cut this time is terrific. As bargains which pass the merely great and approach the positively sensational, these form climax to a succession of most remarkable offers.

We cannot describe them, -no two are alike, -they're the finest kind made from cloth; all silk-lined, of course, heavily braided and fur-trimmed.

$10 and $15

Values in many cases $50. None less than $25. With these came a number of Capes, for both elderly women and younger ones. In silk, camel's-hair, Sicilian and kersey; values $25 to $60.
